Celebrating 65 years of service to the community

At the urging of the Honolulu Fukuoka Kenjinkai and its members, a Gobunrei authorized for worship by Dazaifu Tenmangu of Saifu City, Fukuoka-ken was brought to Hawaii on July 24, 1952.

The Gobunrei was hand-carried from Dazaifu, Fukuoka to Yokohama by Chief Priest Nobusada Nishitakatsujii, father of Chief Priest Nobuyoshi Nishitakatsuji and transported by boat to Honolulu by shrine President and Fukuoka Kenjin officer, Yotaro Fujino accompanied by Fukuoka Kenjin Kai officer Gisaku Fujimoto.

In June 1960, Chief Priest Nobusada Nishitakatsuji of Dazaifu Tenmangu, visited the shrine for the first time, after completing graduate studies at Harvard University.

Rev. Nishitakatsuji was the 38th descendant of Michizane Sugawara, an eminent scholar and Minister of the Imperial court who was deified upon his death in 903 C.E. and given the posthumous name of Tenjin.

The 1970's heralded a new beginning of cultural activities for the shrine. On May 29, 1973, a plaque written by the legendary calligrapher Kanho Harada was bestowed to the shrine.

In celebration of the 15th anniversary of Hawaii Dazaifu Tenmangu, Rev. Nobusada Nishitakatsuji and five priests from Dazaifu Tenmangu, Fukuoka arrived on March 21, 1976 to participate in the festivities.

Plans were initiated for the purchase of the Bishop Estate land behind the shrine for the construction of a

Hawaii Dazaifu Tenmangu Spring Festival held on March 25, 1956

Dazaifu Tenmangu shrine. Due to unforeseen circumstances, plans for the purchase of Bishop Estate land behind the shrine was abandoned in July 1976 and plans for construction of a Dazaifu Tenmangu shrine at Kama Lane was brought to the table.

Construction permits were issued on May 9, 1981 and a Jichin-sai (ground breaking ceremony) was performed on May 17.

The ancient Joto-sai rites followed on November 15, when the ridgepoles were made and set in place on the roof.

On April 15, 1982, Rev. and Mrs. Nobusada Nishitakatsuji, 15 priests and a large tour group from Dazaifu Tenmangu, Fukuoka arrived in Hawaii to participate in the completion of the first Dazaifu Tenmangu shrine on foreign soil.

Architect, Thomas Agawa provided pro bono design work for the Kotohira and Dazaifu Tenmangu shrines which was devotedly built by members volunteering their time and expertise daily, for a period of twelve months.

The completion ceremony was performed on April 16 followed by a recreation of the elegant Kyokusui-no-en (Water Poetry Festival) at Ala Moana Beach Park. The Heian aristocracy expressed their awe of nature through poetry in a gala called Kyokusui-no-en.

A shallow stream was dug at Ala Moana Beach Park and shrine members donned ancient costumes and recited poems, re-enacting the elegant traditions of the Heian period.

In 2013 - 31 years after the Kyokusui no-En event in Honolulu, a delegation led by Rev. Takizawa and Dr. Shinken Naitoh, president of the shrine visited Dazaifu Tenmangu Fukuoka to witness the Kyokusui-no-en festivities.
